If anybody actually looks at this site:

Check out this amazing 3 year old painter who finger paints (using circular dabs of paint instead of smearing it like most of us) an image of a Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle most of us would be proud of! It's incredible! Video is quite short, so great for a quick distraction. The address is <http://www.glumbert.com/media/fingerpaint>.

Also, another great, and clever site is <http://www.1-click.jp>. It contains fascinating new footage of how your mouse cursor really works! Click the link and move your mouse to get a rare glimpse into your screen! Also, don't forget to click/double-click to see how that works, too.
