Here is a video done by some people from Monash about my experiences on the Student Life Projection Summer Project. I know that the scores of people who have viewed it already (6 is a score!) have had a potentially life-changing experience... you can, too, for just 43 seconds of your time.

Note: Since this video, I have also added a note I wrote on Facebook on how things are quite different for me now, spiritually. See the home page or the news section for that article.
